Dear Employer,

As a young and motivated individual, I'm extremely excited to apply for the 'C# Developer' position that is currently available at your company. I'm a Master's student who is currently studying Game Development and Design at the University of Skövde in Sweden. I come from a computer science background and my skills mainly revolve around programming. Before moving to Sweden to start my master's degree, I worked as an operations support engineer in a US based company where I got the opportunity to work with cloud technologies such as AWS, versioning tools such as GIT and implement automation scripts using python. Furthermore I have around 1 ½ years of experience as a C# programmer working in game studios as well as on passion projects.

From this job opportunity I hope to further broaden my knowledge in coding and industry related technologies while contributing towards achieving company goals. I have a strong passion towards learning new technologies and skills related to the field and possess the skill to adapt to any given situation while being a good team player. I strongly believe that with these qualities, I can be a valuable asset that will contribute greatly to your team. To gain a better understanding about my background and qualifications, please review my resume that has been attached. I'm eager to speak with you and greatly appreciate your consideration.

Sincerely,

Rivindu Wickramarachchi
